2020 Morrow Summary

Not even too much rain . . . and then too much sun could dampen the spirit of the hearty crew. Great job team. We managed to pull it off again.

And so we wrap up another great (albeit wet) Morrow. You all get huge kudos and thanks for enduring the rain, last-minute changes, horrific foot faults by your opponents, some idiot scheduling 9 matches on three courts at Vicmead on Sunday morning at the same time, 30 second travel time allowances for matches, and 38 email blasts with contradictory information.

You exemplified what makes the tournament great, and different: remembering it's about the friendships and camaraderie, for no one will remember who won what. Ok, a few of you will. We've seen snippets of the secret lists of who drove at whom floating out there.

In the end, we started (and somehow finished) with 56 teams, 96 matches, a 10 foot beer pour, and 45 hours of so much inappropriate fun we don't dare associate it with a charity. Mission accomplished.
